

Mark Bankhead

Technology Manager,
National Nuclear Laboratory

Dr Mark Bankhead is a technology manager in chemical modelling and High Performance Computing at the National Nuclear Laboratory.

He is a chartered chemist with over 17 years' experience working in nuclear R&D. He has led a number of initiatives in digital for NNL, including an ongoing £2m investment in computing infrastructure, and Nuclear Innovation Programme activities in digital integration and in digital manufacture.

To read Mark's full profile, please visit our event brochure on <https://www.nuclearinst.com/Events-list/Go-Digital---Implementing-Digital-Innovation-in-a-Nuclear-Environment-2020/75099>